BOURBON VANILLA

« Bourbon » does not indicate the quality of the vanilla but its origin. This label was created in 1964 to differentiate between the vanilla coming from the Reunion Island, Madagascar, the Comoros or Mauritius from the vanilla coming from Tahiti or Mexico. Today Madagascar has become the leading exporter of vanilla in the world.

Vanilla is an liana orchid which lives in the wet rain forest of Madagascar and grows on trees.

Its production requires human intervention : each vanilla flower is delicately fertilized by Malagasy farmers by hand in order to give as many green pods as possible whenever fertilization is successful.

VEGETAL OILS AND ORGANIC OILY MACERATES

Regenerating, nourishing, soothing.... The 100% ORGANIC vegetable oils and oily macerates we offer have many properties!

Use them for massages, body care and home cosmetics.

Vegetable oil is a fatty substance extracted from an oleaginous plant, a plant whose seeds, nuts or fruits contain lipids.

In aromatherapy, they facilitate and accelerate absorption of the active ingredients in essential oils.

In fact, their omega-6 and omega-9 composition provides the skin with suppleness, elasticity, tone, protection and hydration.

Vegetable oils can be applied to the skin in a variety of ways:

- - Local application to the body, face, nails, hair and scalp;
- - For body massage, in combination with essential oils;
- - In the bath (mixed with liquid soap, for example).

Oily macerate (or solar macerate) is the result of macerating aromatic plant parts (flowers, leaves, roots, buds, young shoots, etc....) in a neutral vegetable oil for a certain period of time (often 40 days). The jar is left in the sun.

Precaution for use : Keep away from heat. Keep out of reach of children. Do not ingest. Do not use on open wounds. Do not use for prolonged periods.

This is not a medicine. If symptoms persist, consult a healthcare professional.

FLORAL WATERS AND ORGANIC HYDROLAT

Our refreshing waters, light toning lotions and organic floral waters will awaken your skin with the instant sensation of floral fragrance. For use in body care and in the manufacture of your home cosmetics.

Floral water is obtained by steam distillation of flowers.

Hydrolat is the more generic term for water containing plant properties.

For example, we'd say lavender floral water (flower) but peppermint hydrosol (plant).

The difference between a floral water and an essential oil:

The difference may seem subtle, but it's essential to be aware of it.

An essential oil is much more powerful than a floral water, and therefore requires greater care in use.

When the plant or flower is distilled, two elements emerge:

- The concentrate, i.e. the essential oil.
- Floral water.

Floral water is the distillation water for essential oils.

But floral waters are loaded with aromatic compounds.

Precaution for use : Store away from heat. Keep out of reach of children. Use within one month of opening. Do not ingest.

This is not a medicine. If symptoms persist, consult a healthcare professional.
